DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986). It is also submitted that references are evaluated by what they suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art rather than their specific disclosure [see In re Bozek, 163 USPQ 545 (CCPA 1969)]

In response to the argument that Schrader enables a transactor to view pending on-line banking transactions at one financial institution only, this was discussed in the March 24, 2004 Office Action why one of ordinary skill in the art would modify the software of Schrader with the teachings of Hagan to enable a proxy transfer of funds between at least a user's financial account held at one institution and a user's financial account held at another institution. The March 24, 2004 office action provided motivation for the combination of references (which is emphasized again here) stating that one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would recognize the fact that certain financial institutions (i.e. banks) are federally insured only to a certain dollar limit (i.e. FDIC) and therefore motivated to use Hagan to transfer funds to a number of different institutions (or banks, insurance companies, etc.,) to safeguard against uninsured (or unprotected funds).

Moreover, it should be noted that the definition of "financial institution" in this case is not limited to depository institutions (banks, credit unions, etc.,) but includes nondepository institutions (i.e., insurance companies and pension plans). One of ordinary skill in the art would recognize the fact that a user would be able to conveniently make proxy transfer of funds to one of these institutions via the teachings of Hagan. Thus such modification would have been an obvious expedient well within the ordinary skill of the art.

Conclusion

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
